FOR SUPERIOR COURT. Bound Over Under $500 Bonds on the Charge of Perjury During Divorce Proceedings.

Proceedings.

In the city court on Friday morning Judge Brown gave his decision in the case of Michael Cohen, charged with perjury, which was heard in the city court Tuesday, and stated that he found sufficient cause for holding the accused for the next term of the criminal superior court. The bonds, which had been $750, were made $500 and security was furnished.

The perjury, it is claimed, was committed in a divorce case before the superior court. Judge Roraback, in which the accused said he was a resident of Colchester when it was shown that he had registered as a voter in New York. When this discrepancy was discovered the case was withdrawn, as the time necessary for desertion was not sufficient. He claims he came to Colchester in May, 1903. His wife opposes the divorce and testified against him in the city court, although his sons testified for their father.
